Standard Chargeback Policy (2024)

1. Introduction: This document outlines the standard procedures for handling chargebacks initiated by customers.

2. Timeframes: Customers must file a chargeback within 120 days of the transaction date. Merchants have 30 days to respond to a chargeback notification with compelling evidence.

3. Compelling Evidence: To successfully dispute a chargeback, merchants must provide evidence such as proof of delivery, AVS (Address Verification System) match, CVV match, or positive identification of the cardholder.

4. Fraudulent Chargebacks (Friendly Fraud): If a merchant can prove the customer actually made and received the purchase, the chargeback will be reversed. Digital goods require IP logs and access records as proof of delivery.

5. High Risk Categories: Electronics and Digital Goods are considered high-risk categories. Merchants in these categories must maintain a chargeback ratio below 1%. If the ratio exceeds 1%, a reserve may be held on the account.

6. Resolution: If the merchant fails to provide evidence within 30 days, the customer automatically wins the dispute. If evidence is provided, the issuing bank will make a final decision within 45 days.
